

Town council looks at building new arena

By Frank Ryan

The Town of Drayton Valley plans to look at the feasibility of building a new arena. They also plan to look at turning the existing Centennial Civic Arena into a multi-purpose municipal administration facility that would house the town office, recreation department, library and fire hall. Both the present town office complex and the library would be sold.

It's all part of an 'in-house study' that council gave their unanimous support to last Thursday. No costs were attached to renovating the existing 18-year-old arena or building a new facility. However, Mayor Bob Mayhew has suggested that costs to renovate the Centennial Civic Arena could be as high as $900,000 and just as much for a new facility.

Ironically, council's decision to address the problems at the Civic Arena came only minutes after a proposal from the municipal library board. Library board member Dorothy Logan told council they need more room and wanted to move across the street into the vacant Home Centre building. Council tabled any decision, pending introduction of their in-house study.

Mayor Mayhew told council last week that he has received some verbal offers on prices from architects and construction people, and these are available at no cost to the town. "I'll be pushing. Council's not about to sit back on this one," the mayor stated.

Council hopes to have some answers on their in-house study by the end of February.

Replying to the possibility of combining an arena and curling rink, the mayor remarked, "It's possible. If the two were built together they would complement each other and reduce costs."

In suggesting an alternate area for a new arena, council didn't mention any location but Mayor Mayhew said such a facility at West Valley Park would add to that area.

More on new arena

Janzen interested

The Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association is very interested in a new arena.

President Garry Janzen greeted town council's 'in-house study' that could possibly lead to a new arena, with enthusiasm.

But, while the town is looking into the feasibility of building a new arena and renovating the existing rink into a municipal complex to house town hall, the library, fire hall and recreation department, Janzen would like to see it built as an arena.

"We need more ice. I'd like to see two covered sheets of ice in town," Janzen said Monday.

The minor hockey president plans to take his concerns to a Jan. 10th meeting, where a new complex will be discussed. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m., upstairs at the curling rink. Every group in town, either interested in financially supporting a new complex or being part of it, are urged to attend this meeting.

Sturdi-Wood to be in production by next November

By Frank Ryan

Sturdi-Wood is expected to produce their first strandboard in November of next year.

Al Owen, president of Pelican Spruce Mills and their new $55 million Sturdi-wood plant in Drayton Valley delivered a very impressive 90-minute speech to the Chamber of Commerce general meeting last Wednesday night.

Owen's guest appearance to bring the community up to date on the plant attracted 167 people to the dinner meeting held in the Westwind's Rodeo City Saloon.

Sturdiwood's time-table calls for the production of the first board in November of next year. The plant is expected to be in full production by late January or early February of '87.

Owen said that 70 to 80 per cent of the strand-

Owan, who described himself as a 'one-horse man' with no partners, a wife, two daughters and 650 employees, praised MLA Shirley Cripps and the provincial government for all their help. He also singled out the town management for all their cooperation.

In talking about his dealings with the provincial government, Owen said lots of highway work was planned plus 34th Avenue near the mill site would be extended, with no cost to the town. Several announcements are expected in the months ahead, including one dealing with the spinoffs the mill will create.

Owen made it quite clear that he plans to support Drayton Valley and area business, just like Pelican Spruce Mills has in Edson, where they spend about $2 million per month.

One of Owen's major concerns is a railroad. "It would be a big help," he stated. In reply, the MLA said, "I really believe if there's enough tonnage, the railway will put in the line and the government won't have to."

With the steel going up at his new Drayton Valley plant, Owen is looking toward Dec. 2nd when he signs the forest management agreement. The signing with provincial ministers is to take place in Drayton Valley.

In his closing comments Owen said, "There's lots of surprises coming in the next couple of years for the community."

Opinions

Town takes bold step towards new arena

The waiting is finally over.

Town council did what many residents have been waiting for, and that was some definite action on a new recreation complex. There's been lots of talk, but no action.

Last Thursday council took a bold step and announced an 'in-house study' that will look at the feasibility of a new arena in an alternate position. They also plan to look at renovating the Centennial Civic Arena and turning it into a municipal administration facility to house town hall, the fire hall, recreation department and library. If this happens, the present town hall site and the library would be sold.

While council has said very little publicly about the problems at the Civic Arena, it's obvious from last week's announcement they have given it serious thought.

Besides looking at the renovating bill for the arena that could reach $900,000, council have looked at a need for more space for the volunteer fire department and the library.

Their present plans just call for a new arena, likely at West Valley Park. But, it's no secret that the Drayton Valley curling club has been looking at the same site for a new facility. The price tag on a new arena is expected to be another $900,000.

Council's study comes at a time when a lot of groups have been talking about some sort of multi-use facility that might accommodate an ice surface, six sheets of curling ice and some much needed meeting room space. It also comes at a time when the economy is booming and that could make fund raising a whole lot easier.

Town council have officially fired the first shot. Now it's up to the community to follow their lead.

Let's get the ball rolling!

Santas Anonymous good community project to support

The cold weather of late brings back some cold memories.

Two situations we often remember took place at Dawson Creek, B.C. in the mid-60s.

One was a speed skating meet, when the temperature dropped to -57°. That was about the only record established at the meet, and still stands today as the coldest speed skating meet in Canada.

The other situation was 18 straight days when it never got warmer than -50°. As I remember it, most of the cars didn't run and the streets were extremely quiet at night.

My parents often tell us about the night they went curling in Dawson Creek and the temperature dropped to -70°. They had to spend the night at the rink around the big pot-belly stove.

Editor's Notes

If you're looking for a good community project to support, try Santas Anonymous. Collection cans are located around town and toy boxes, for new items only, can also be found in town.

The writer of Ace's View from the water tower that appeared in the pages of The Western Review two years ago might be a potential buyer for the water tower.

With their new reservoir and pump station coming on stream, the town is not using the water tower. A decision on its future hasn't been made, but Councillor Howard Olsen says it may be sold to the highest bidder.

The historical association have stated they are not interested in purchasing the local landmark.

In some ways it will be a sad day when the water tower is gone, as it can be seen from miles around.

A bouquet to Lance Grosco, general manager at the Black Gold Inn. Last week a visitor arrived with a lease car, minus an extension cord. Grosco hurried about the hotel and found a cord. The result was one extremely happy customer.

Big donation from local oil company

Drayton Valley's Santa's Anonymous campaign is off to a great start with the largest single donation it has ever received.

According to fund raiser Wayne Thompson, the Canadian Occidental Petroleum Ltd. recently presented Santa's Anonymous with a donation of $608.

The Santa's Anonymous campaign was introduced to Drayton Valley seven years ago.

"The campaign helps approximately 120 families including about 400 children," said Thompson.

Families receive a food basket and gifts for every member.

Each year the number of families needing help increases," stated Thompson. "Donations really help to make Christmas for children a little brighter," he added.

Linda Thompson, also a fund raiser for Santa's Anonymous, said the distribution of all the campaign's donation boxes will be completed this week.

Boxes will be located at all the local banks, Brenda's New and Used, Ben's Meats, IGA, Poplar Ridge store, Melhuus, Pembina Drugs, the Sikh Shrine, the Legion and the Sikh Shrine.

Referring to the donation from Canadian Occidental Petroleum, Thompson said, "We have received anything like it. I hope it's a good omen."

Anyone who knows of people in need this Christmas can contact Linda Thompson at 342-4509 or 342-6446.

Santa's Anonymous is semi-sponsored by the local branch of the Royal Canadian Legion.

Bittner challenge

By Jessica Solomon

Drayton Valley MLA Shirley Cripps, 56, will face competition for the PC nomination for the next provincial election from Norman Bittner, 57, current reeve of the County of Leduc.

Hevee Bittner said he decided to put 40 years of experience as a farmer, five years as reeve, and several years of serving on the lower rung of government, to use at the provincial level.

"Many people work at a job 25-30 years and retire. Well, I've done that. My wife and sons are in agreement and very supportive of my plan," he said.

Bittner said he can't visualize being idle when he is in a position to help farmers and represent the people in the Drayton Valley constituency, many of whom approached him personally with concerns.

Some of these concerned people were affected by the change in Drayton Valley constituency's electoral boundary which will go into effect for the next provincial election. While the Wetaskiwin-Leduc constituency will be cut back, communities west of Leduc such as Calmar, Devons and Thorby are added to the Drayton Valley constituency.

Bittner said it is "very encouraging" to be centrally located in Thorby within the new electoral boundaries.

Among the concerns Bittner will be addressing is agriculture. Hopefully problems in that sector are closer to solutions, he said.

"I was pleased to see a farmer identified farming as a serious problem and is looking toward assisting agriculture," the county reeve said.

Abolishing unemployment is a lot of his concerns. Education is the answer, according to Bittner. He said he would like to encourage an increase in provincial education funding to the 80 per cent level of a few years ago.

Bittner served on Leduc County council, school board, hospital board and municipal committee. His current responsibilities include maintaining roads and investigating agricultural and building concerns.

Norman Bittner was born and still lives in the Thorby area. He and his wife Selma have been married for 28 years. They have three sons: Wilfred, Dwight and David.

A PC organizational meeting for the Drayton Valley constituency will be held Monday, Dec. 2 at the Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre in Warburg. Indications are the nomination meeting might be set for early in the new year.

New mobile park

Council has okayed a new mobile home park at the north end of town.

The new development will be built at the north entrance to town, adjacent to the Greenwood mobile home park.

While he didn't have any argument with the need for such a trailer park, Mayor Bob Mayhew expressed concern over the loss of trees at that corner. Councillor Charlie Miner, who also sits on the municipal planning commission suggested a nice buffer of trees would be left standing.

Some concern about a trailer park at the junction of the major route into town was also aired. "I'm not concerned about firm impressions people would have. You see them all over," Miner stated.

Shoppers reminded

Christmas shoppers are reminded to watch for the special 16-page Moonlight Madens supplement in the Dec. 4 Western Review.

In conjunction with the merchants' annual Moonlight Madens, stores will be open on Friday, Dec. 6 from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Don't miss the special.

Cripps wants to serve constituency

By Jessica Solomon

MLA for Drayton Valley since 1979, Shirley Cripps says she doesn't really care whether she gets credit for her work or not, as long as she's serving her constituency.

MLA Cripps, who lives in Winfield, has no qualms about contesting her position as Progressive Conservative candidate against challenger Norman Bittner of Thorby.

"I enjoy what I'm doing. I enjoy being accessible to my constituents and giving them personalized service," she said.

"The MLA said she is pleased with some of her achievements."

Cripps said she has always supported long term proposals in agriculture and marketing. "We have to look at the long term liability of Drayton Valley because we're land-locked," she said.

Cripps said she approved of the second word-based industry to provide certain economic stability in the region. The oriented strandboard company located in Drayton Valley is currently the only manufacturer of its kind in Canada.

Another priority concern for the Drayton Valley MLA is the advancement of education. The Pembina Educational Consortium, started during her term of office, now has an enrollment of about 1,000 people, she said. "This is something you build, a need you develop, and it is providing excellent service," said the MLA.

On whether a County of Drayton Valley should be created, Cripps said she couldn't take a stand because she must remain objective. From the preliminary report of the core study done in the County of Parkland, it appears to be feasible, she commented adding, "I'll support whatever the people want."

The decision to expand the Drayton Valley General Hospital which opened two years ago was a good one, Cripps said. The people were discussing the hospital for years before she was elected, and she was supportive of their final plans to build, said Cripps.

As for thinking ahead and planning her political career in the event of losing her party's nomination, Cripps is not worried. "I haven't even thought about it," she said.

Pembina Packers

New service in Violet Grove

Gerry Puhling has more moose, deer and elk in his freezer than most people ever see.

On any given day during hunting season he can have up to 30 wild animals hanging from the freezer in his meat packing plant near Violet Grove.

Puhling has opened up Pembina Packers, a custom butchering and wholesale service right miles from Drayton Valley on the Lodgepole highway.

With hunting season in high gear Puhling is handling mostly wild animals.

"It's (the harvest) bigger than I've ever seen it," says the 34-year veteran of the butchering industry.

Puhling adds that when the weather is warmer he seems to get more hunters coming in, although most of the time he averages three to four a day. He offers butchers any service they want, from storing animals for a few hours in his freezers to complete cutting and wrapping of the meat and sausage making.

A lot of people take advantage of our services because we're open late," Puhling explains. Pembina Packers stays open until about 9 or 10 p.m. each night, depending on the amount of meat to be done.

But Puhling handles more than wild animals, he always butchers pigs and cattle. He says he'll do "anything" brought in and he has "flexible hours" to meet the needs of his customers.

With facilities to hang 80 animals and a seven-ton freezer capacity, Puhling can handle a lot of meat.

"When we're busy, we work a lot of hours," he confesses.

Gerry Puhling stands in his freezer.

RCMP keeping busy

Accidents have been keeping the Drayton Valley RCMP busy this past week.

The detachment included 29 accidents. Included in this total were five hit and runs, mostly in local parking lots, where vehicles slid into a parked car or truck, and drove off.

Two people were also injured in accidents during the past week.

Marion Dahlgren received minor cuts when her vehicle was in collision with Terrence Munn on Monday, about 100 feet west of the Post Office. And, last Friday night, Stanley Barnes of Drayton Valley received bumps and bruises when his vehicle hit a parked car a half mile west of the Tomahawk turnoff. Extensive damage resulted to all four vehicles in these two mishaps.

The RCMP report a major problem this past week with abandoned vehicles on the side of the road. If the vehicles are found to be left in a dangerous position, the RCMP warn they will be towed away.

Old pool

No renovating

The town has decided not to renovate the old swimming pool building.

Instead of renovating the building and turning it into a multi-purpose facility, council decided last Thursday to use it for storage.

It is the town's intention to paint the building the same color as the swimming pool and provide storage for several groups who have approached the recreation board for space.

Costs to renovate the building caused council to change their mind.

BE A WINNER.

THE CLASSIFIED

Local detachment

One of the busiest

The Drayton Valley RCMP detachment is one of the busiest in the province.

Staff Sgt. Les Bannerman told town council last week that a recent audit listed the detachment as the 17th busiest out of 62 municipalities across the province.

According to Bannerman, the audit also placed Drayton Valley amongst the top five in management.

Snow removal

Town sets priorities

The town has established their snow removal priorities. When their equipment is needed, 50th Avenue and 50th Street will be the first to be cleaned. They will be followed by school bus routes, the hospital, senior citizens' homes, downtown, the parking lot behind the curling rink and most of the main roads in the downtown area.

Pembina Consortium

Courses offered

Through the cooperation of Alberta Educational Institutions, Drayton Valley's Pembina Educational Consortium is able to offer a variety of full credit courses which enables residents to receive post-secondary training without having to move.

Joe MacLellan said Drayton Valley is very fortunate to have these type of programs offered in the community.

"Institutions have cooperated to deliver this to the community. They provide instructors and maintain a high quality of education," he added.

Programs now being offered at the consortium include a bachelor of administration degree through Athabasca University, a Registered Nursing Assistant program through the Alberta Vocational Centre (AVC), third and fourth class power engineering courses through NAIT, oil field courses through the Alberta Petroleum Industry and Early Childhood Development and business administration programs through Grant MacEwan Community College.

The consortium also offers part-time upgrading courses and will be offering full-time upgrading beginning next week. Academic upgrading is available through cooperation of AVC.

"Academic upgrading is really important. It is the key to so many things," said MacLellan. According to MacLellan the consortium is able to add to the number of programs it offers.

"We have the flexibility to add other programs if the need arises and the interest is there. We want people to give us direction. We're willing to investigate any program possibilities," he said. "We make annual program submissions to the Advanced Education Department," he added.

Pembina Educational Consortium is now accepting registration inquiries.

Priority will also be given to the town office parking lot, arena parking lot, sewer and water plant roads, shop yards, airport, all hydrants for fire fighting purpose and the sidewalk from 51 Avenue to the senior citizens lodge.

Most of the snow will be hauled away, but where space is available, it will be pushed to the side of the road. The town hopes to do most of their snow removal between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

To help with their sanding program, town council authorized the spending of $7,000 last week for a new sander.

Attends Elementary B

Boy has no arms but still enjoys life

By Debbie Johnson

"Play safe" is the message nine-year-old Shane Rhine wants to convey to his peers and other children.

A Grade 4 student at Drayton Valley Elementary B school, Shane, as other students, participates in school activities and follows the school curriculum. In fact Shane enjoys almost all the usual pastimes of an average nine-year-old boy.

However, Shane does have one distinguishing feature. Where other children use their hands to write, play or work, Shane uses his feet. He was born without arms.

Sitting on the edge of his bed, the smiling brown-eyed boy said he tried using mechanical arms a few years ago.

"I didn't like them. They were too hot," explained Shane.

"He functioned better without them. He couldn't do anything with the arms that he couldn't already do with his feet," added his mother, Rose Rhine.

Shane enjoys sports. He has training in Tae Kwon Do, has played floor hockey and was the basketballer for a baseball team. Also, he plays on the school soccer team and is the referee for his class's newswoman games.

"Shane seems to have an instinct for what he can and can't do," his mother says. He's very independent. We've tried to teach him to do things in a certain way but haven't had much success because it's hard to put yourself in his position. He's always found the way that's best for him and has amazed a lot of people," she added.

Shane's other interests include building Lego space ships, horseback riding, chess, drawing and computers.

When Shane grows up he has dreams of becoming a nuclear weapons scientist or a professional soccer player. He said math and science are his favorite subjects in school.

Shane has attended Drayton Valley's public school system since Grade 1. Special needs teacher at Elementary B school, Theresa Phillips, said Shane is a very independent student.

"Academically, he manages like any other student. Physically, very few problems arise," she stated. "He participates wherever he can and is willing to give just about anything a try. For most people just being able to write with the feet seems exceptional, but Shane doesn't have hands so he uses his feet and has adapted to it very well," she added.

"He does as much as he can and probably more than is expected of him," said vice-principal Chris Kelly. "He's just a real neat kid," he added.

SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

This week is being designated Columbia Week at Elementary B School. All donations will be forwarded to the Red Cross to aid victims of the volcano.

A sexual abuse program based on the CARE Kit was supported by the Eldorado Parent's Association at its recent meeting. Principal Howard Pearson said it was confirmed that the kit has not been approved by Alberta Education.

"The school board is hesitant to do anything not approved by Alberta Education," said Pearson. "I personally felt that it was quite a good program," he added. Pearson said probably the only way the program could go ahead at the school is if parents introduced it.

"Parents may decide to go ahead and if they did we would accommodate them," he added. The next Parent's Association meeting will be held Dec. 10th.

Eldorado's first concert is scheduled for Dec. 4 with the Grade 3 choir performing.

Parent-teacher interviews will be held this Thursday and Friday at Breton Elementary School.

Breton Elementary is considering an old fashioned Christmas tree decorated by students with cookies, candies and other homemade items.

Breton High School's Christmas concert is to be held Dec. 12th.

Also Breton High is currently accepting applications from Breton students who want to attend Expo '86 in Vancouver.

The school is offering the seven-day trip in conjunction with Warburg School.

The school is planning a door decorating contest.

The Grade 7 to 12 Christmas band and carol concert is to be held at Frank Maddock High School on Dec. 11.

Law 20 students will visit the Court of Queens Bench in Edmonton this week.

On Dec. 4 FMHS students are holding a pancake breakfast from 7:30 to 9 a.m. The food will be provided by the students union and cooked by the biology class.

This week the high school will begin its annual Santa's Anonymous drive. The target for this year is 1000 pounds of goods. Last year's total was 880 pounds.

Also this week the school's year book committee is to be selling chocolate covered almonds door to door.

Recreation

Members of the Derrick Boxing Club do push-ups during one of their twice-weekly workouts.

Upcoming card

Boxers busy

One of them could be the next Sugar Ray Leonard or the next Willie DeWit.

Every Tuesday and Thursday this dedicated group of boys gather in the gymnasium of Elementary B to hone their boxing skills.

"They're a nice bunch of boys and we keep them busy," explains Lawrence Duperron, coach of Handy McQuig works on his technique.

Lawrence Duperron holds the bag as one of the Derrick Boxing Club members works out.

Vicki Johnston, from Fitness for Life, checks the percentage of skin fat on Shawn Harris.

the Derrick Boxing Club.

Duperron, along with his son Ray and Doug Bollenstam, coach the 30-member club from September to April. Duperron calls his two assistants "big assets" in helping him coach the club.

They travel to various boxing cards around the province including the Bronze Gloves, Silver Gloves and Golden Gloves tournaments. In addition, the club will take in bouts in Edmonton and other centres including hosting boxing cards in Drayton Valley.

This Saturday at 2 p.m. in the high school gymnasium the club is hosting a 15-bout boxing card with clubs from Bonnyville, Ft. Saskatchewan, Edmonton and Lloydminster in attendance.

So far the club has been to a couple of different cards and Duperron is happy with the results.

"We're doing real well this year with the way we started and the boys are looking," Duperron adds.

But in between bouts the club puts in a lot of time practicing and getting in shape. They workout on Tuesdays from 8 to 9 p.m. and go again from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays.

Duperron says the club has boxers as young as six years old and as old as 20.

"They all follow the same program," Duperron points out.

"It's tough for the little guys but some are in better shape than the big guys," Duperron adds.

Warriors lose in semi-finals

Amazons place second in regionals

The Frank Maddock High School Amazons lost out in the finals at regional volleyball action in Sherwood Park on the weekend and ended their season.

The high school girls' volleyball team lost to Athabasca 19-17 and 15-7 to miss a chance to go to the provincials.

Earlier, the Drayton Valley team beat Sherwood Park in the semi-finals by scores of 17-16 and 15-11.

"We just ran out of gas," said Carl Paazy coach of the team.

Drayton Valley had posted a five-win and four-loss record in the round robin to make it into the playoffs.

Paazy said the team played "really super" against Sherwood Park but couldn't find enough in the final against Athabasca.

"It's too bad, it was a super year and they worked hard all year," Paazy added.

For the Warriors, the senior boys team, it was almost the same story.

The Warriors lost in the semi-finals to Sherwood Park two games to one. The win was their first game but lost the next two as Sherwood Park advanced to the finals.

In the boys' finals the Evansburg Grizzlies won it all beating Sherwood Park two straight 15-9 and 15-5. Evansburg advances to the provincials next weekend in Barhead.

Blades game called with 53 seconds left

By Frank Ryan

Simon Kelly was unhappy. Not so much over the fact that his Drayton Valley Blades had dropped a 7-5 decision to visiting Rocky Mountain House Rockets, but the manner in which his troops lost.

Sliding rocks

The rocks are sliding at the Lodgepole curling rink.

Darcy McGregor, president of the Lodgepole Curling Club, says they have about 50 members this year.

League action runs from Monday to Thursday nights. Men's and ladies' leagues taking to the ice.

The club will host three bonspiel over the season with the first coming January 17, 18 and 19 for 18 mixed risks.

The ladies will get the ice from February 7 to 9 for a 15-risk bonspiel while the men go from March 5 to 9 with 24 risks.

McGregor says they are "just keeping things going" so far and "everybody is having a good time."

I don't mind losing but I don't like the all that running. I've been telling the guys not to fight," Kelly shouted outside the Blades' dressing room just minutes after last Friday night's game.

All the running Kelly talked about came in the final minute when three fights broke out. It was so bad that referee Roy Grant of Edson called the league game with 53 seconds left. Grant called the game because his two linemen were tired.

Referee Grant ejected five Rockets and four Blades in the hard hitting affair before 145 paid him.

Terry Gray led the Rockets to their sixth win of the season with three goals. Rocky Stacey, Blaine Macnoche, Roger Loomer and Paul Waskewich had singles as the Rockets held period leads of 1-0 and 4-3.

Mike Benoit, Chad Allen and Wade Prie scored all the Blades' goals in the middle frame on the power play when they closed to within one goal after being down 3-0.

Stacey scored the only goal of the opening period at the 28-second mark with Gray, with his first, and Macnoche scoring nine seconds apart in the first minute of the second period for a 3-0 lead. Benoit finished off a nice play started by defenceman Sheldon Dunham and Prie to get the Blades on the scoreboard at 11:40 of the middle frame. But Gray got his second to give Rocky a 4-1 lead before Allen tipped in a goal mouth pass from Doug Bacon. And Prie finished off a nice play engineered by Benoit to cut the margin to 4-3 by the end of the period.

The Rockets came out flying in the third as Loomer scored at 1:46. Gray notched his third at 11:59 on the power play and Waskewich closed out the scoring at 18:40, just before the lights started.

The win gave the Rockets a 4-4 win-loss record which is already better than last year's 4-8 record. It was the sixth loss of the young season for the Blades against two wins and a tie.

The two teams are scheduled to meet tonight (Wednesday) at Rocky Mountain House. The Blades host the Barrhead Elks this Friday at 8:15 p.m.

A league meeting was held in Drayton Valley last night. One issue on the agenda was a recent brawl at Rimbey between the Weststars and Blades that took place where the referee didn't show and three minor officials from Rimbey handled the contest. Teams not showing up for games was also discussed.

Kaminski represents figure skating club in competition

By Debbie Johnson
A local figure skater has qualified for the provincial figure skating competition to be held in St. Albert next week.

Cristal Kaminski will be representing the Drayton Valley Figure Skating Club in the ladies' pre novice category of the Alberta Sectional Competition.

According to instructor Karna Kirkwood, 15-year-old Kaminski was the only figure skater from a "smaller club" to qualify for the competition after finishing in eighth place at the Alberta Regional A competition held recently in St. Paul. Kirkwood said the ladies' pre-novice event in the provincial finals would be very competitive.

It will be challenging with top skaters from really large city clubs who get a lot more free time than we do, but, Kaminski is up to it and I think she will do well," said Kirkwood. "Just getting into the provincials is an accomplishment, coming from a smaller club," she added.

Eleven-year-old Patti Joe Pankiewicz of Drayton Valley also participated in the regional competition in St. Paul at the juvenile ladies' level but didn't make the finals.

Kirkwood has been instructing figure skating for about 17 years. She has obtained her seventh figure, senior silver free skate and gold dances. Barry Fraser, also a local figure skating instructor, has achieved his gold figure, gold free skate and gold dances. Fraser, a Spruce Grove resident, has been teaching for about eight years and has 11 years experience in national competition.

Instructor Susan Benson has her fifth figure, junior free skate and gold dances. This is Benson's first year of teaching. She has about 11 years coaching experience.

These three instructors all teach private lessons through the Drayton Valley Figure Skating Club affiliated with the Canadian Figure Skating Association (CPSA).

Judy Mervar teaches the Can Skate and Can Figure Skate lessons to students aged four and up. Mervar has earned her fourth figure, junior silver free skate and partial senior dance. Mervar also has coaching experience. This is her first year of teaching.

Working under Mervar are 16 volunteer coaches and helpers.

There are about 80 students enrolled in the Can Skate programs and about 24 students enrolled in CPSA lessons.

The Drayton Valley Figure Skating Club is scheduled to hold its ice show on Feb. 1st. The club is to start planning the show next week.

Womens skating

"Women are finally using the facility they say taxes for," stated Marti McKinley, organizer of a local women's skating session.

More than 20 Drayton Valley area women have registered for the one-hour skating session held every other Tuesday night.

"I go to the arena a lot and it seemed the only people not skating were women," said McKinley. "We deserve the chance to have our turn at ice skating instead of watching all the time," she added.

Participation in the skating sessions is available to women aged 16 and over and is mainly for fun and exercise.

"We have a couple people who can really skate but most of us haven't skated in years. It's nice having no kids around to scare us," said McKinley.

McKinley also said she would like to see more women coming out to the arena to join the group.

"We're just having a lot of fun. Some women may start bringing hockey sticks. Who knows what might come of it," she added.
The one-hour session starts at 10 p.m.

Dugouts holding

The main baseball diamond at West Valley Park might have to juggle along without new dugouts.

Town council were in formed last week that the recreation board was recommending the spending of $3,000 on new dugouts at the baseball diamond.
That didn't sit well with Mayor DMR Mayhew. The mayor said it would be okay if the town had lots of money, but there are no many other things required in the community.

So, it's back to the drawing board for the

Gymnastics club has new home

The Drayton Valley gymnastics club has found a home.

The club will be using the gymnasium at the Eldorado school if they are forced to leave the building behind H.W. Pickup.

The club learned several weeks ago they may have to give up their use of the band building, located behind H.W. Pickup because of County plans, according to club president Dawn Kinsey. The county had decided to turn the facility in to a storage room, forcing the club to find another place to practice.

Kinsey explained the club may have to leave the building they've used since 1978 as soon as February 1, 1986.

"They still can't give us a definite date," Kinsey said.

So after some "scrabbling" they will be ten

March 2nd

Nordic club to host loppet

The Pembina Nordic Ski Club will be hosting their own loppet on March 2, 1986.

The club is hoping to run four different races on the loppet day, one for each level of cross-country skier.

The different race lengths include a 34km loop for children, and loops ranging from 7 km to 34 km for the older skiers.

"Having a good time is the objective," according to club president Eric Lloyd.

The loppet is in conjunction with the club's expansion of their trail system. According to Lloyd they now have 19 km of groomed trails with picnic and barbecue facilities.

Lloyd stressed the club is promoting the use of their trails for non-motorized vehicles.

The club's trails are located along the North Saskatchewan River just east and south of the airport.

The club also announced at its general meeting last week a new learn-to-ski program for youngest skiers.

They are looking at the possibility of starting the "Jack-rabbit" program for children ages 8 to 14 to learn how to cross-country ski. They are hoping to get tatively using the gymnasium at Eldorado school for their three or four weekly practices. Kinsey added they are hoping the move from H.W. Pickup will be delayed until April or May so it would not interrupt their spring program.

"We were desperate," Kinsey says about finding a new building.

If the club, with more than a 100 students, is forced to move to Eldorado they will have to leave some of their equipment behind, because of the limited space. She added some of the drawbacks of moving will be Eldorado having to "work around" the club's equipment.

But Kinsey hasn't lost all hope about continuing to use the H.W. Pickup facility.

"We're still waiting for some kind of definite word," she adds.

"It does look like we have somewhere to go if we have to," she points out.

Downhill ski club to meet

A general meeting for the downhill ski club is scheduled for Wednesday, December 4 at 7:30 in the Pembina Resources Conference Room.

Club president Al Malt says they will discuss a variety of items at the meeting, including opening dates, fees and lessons.

Malt says the hill should open sometime in December, depending on the snow conditions. He adds they need between four and six more inches of snow before they can open the hill.

"The condition of the hill is ready for the season to start up," Malt explained.

Malt added that this year, lessons will be given free to anyone that wants them, particularly the children.

A new addition to the hill this year is the recently completed ski chalet. In addition, the club has added some new rental equipment.

Malt says they are "excited" about the new season.

Anyone interested in skiing is urged to attend the meeting next week.

Rink is set back

The outdoor rink received a major setback last Thursday.

Recreation board chairman Chris Kelly approached council with the idea of contracting out the work. The proposal included a contract price of $16,000 for four months starting Dec. 1st.

Council was also told that if town staff were involved, they would be looking at a $10,500 deficit and a $16,700 loss if a private contractor took on the job.

Council didn't like either proposal.

"Why didn't we budget for this last year?" Mayor Bob Mayhew asked. "I lack exception to the recreation board bringing this in. Let's go with volunteers," the mayor added.

Councillor Emile Lambert said, "With no money, how do you operate?"

Charlie Milner said he felt uncomfortable with the proposal. "I don't agree with it coming to us so abruptly. The money has to come from reserves. It doesn't take long and it's gone," he added. Milner suggested the town look at the proposal in their '96 budget.

Speaking in favor of contracting the job of operating the rink out, Councillor Tom McGee said, "It's ridiculous to operate that rink unless we do it right."

The motion to contract the work was defeated 4-2.

According to recreation director Calvin Beauregard, the town will do the flooding and will clean the ice when they have time. Council's decision will mean many of the groups who rent the facility will have to clean the ice themselves.

Locals lose

Drayton Valley floor hockey players finished with a 1-2 win-loss record at a weekend Special Olympics tournament in Edmonton.

The local players, who had to join a team from Strathcona because they didn't have enough players, lost 29-2 to Drumheller and 26-10 to Edmonton before heading Cardston 7-4.

Both Dale Hewatt and Bart Pinkman of Drayton Valley had two goals each in the victory.

Community buses are busy

Around this time of year the Drayton Valley community buses are quite busy.

There are three buses in the Drayton Valley fleet that serve most of the clubs and organizations in town. Some of the clubs that use the buses are the schools, senior citizens and some companies that rent the buses for their Christmas parties.

The buses see the most use from the hockey teams during the winter, "stated Ray Ross, one of the bus coordinators."

The small repairs needed to the buses are usually done at DV Nissan. "When it comes to the big repairs we take the buses to Diversified in Edmonton," commented Ross.

For anyone wanting to book or make reservations for one of the buses, phone Ray Ross at 542-6688.

ALL ABOUT TANNING

Until recently, the only way to sustain ones to spend long hours under the hot sun, provided it was shining! This was not only time consuming, but unhealthy. Being "tanned" with all of its benefits, can also be harmful as drying of the skin, sunburn, sunstroke, etc.

Now, however, natural light tanning has given way to technology. Indoor tanning by solar, artificial light. Or UVA sunbed tanning method supplies all the benefits of natural sunlight, whereas the disadvantages (burning of the skin, sunburn, sunstroke, etc.) do not occur with natural use.

Advantages of the rays

The sun's rays are composed of three wavelengths: U.V. "A" Long wave ultraviolet light is the gentle light that has the ability to darken the skin by stimulating the melanin in the skin. U.V. "B" Short wave ultraviolet light is the harsh light that causes sunburn and skin cancer.

U.V. "C" Short wave ultraviolet light has 800 times the energy spectrum of U.V.A. This increased energy can cause the skin to burn and other damaging effects to unprotected skin.

U.V. "C" Short wave ultraviolet - the most dangerous rays of the sun. Fortunately, the range is almost completely absorbed by the ozone layer in the atmosphere and very little of it reaches the earth.

U.V. "B" Short wave ultraviolet light has 800 times the energy spectrum of U.V.A. This increased energy can cause the skin to burn and other damaging effects to unprotected skin.

Depending on the color tone, skin, hair and eyes, whether you burn easily in natural sunlight or not, does not mean the length of time you go into the sunbed, but a tan can be achieved without fear of burning.

There are some pertinent facts about U.V.A. Tanning you might find helpful.

A U.V.A. tan is a totally natural tan. The only thing U.V.A. tanning does is stimulate the natural body function to produce melanin.

The cells that are stimulated are called melanocytes. Everybody has these cells but in varied quantities.

Dark complexioned people have them in large quantities and fair-skinned people have them in less quantities.

The only thing that will determine how dark a tan you'll get is the number of melanocytes in your own body.

You cannot tan darker than you can in natural sunlight. U.V.A. tanning is well known to dermatologists as a treatment at first for psoriasis, sun, skin, etc. Check with a skin doctor.

Fair-skinned people who burn easily are the ones who get the most benefit from U.V.A. Sun Tan equipment.

For tanning, dermatologists advise a minimum of 10 minutes of tanning and drying to and up with a small amount of tan can be achieved in 10 days without the burning and can maintain that amount of tan with a couple of sessions.

To start with, having a tan can make you look better looking.

All information supplied by UVA Sun and Ev & Lyn's Beauty Salon, the safe tanning specialists.

New youth pastor at the Baptist church

Tim Lees, youth pastor at Calvary Baptist Church.

By Debbie Johnson
An activities co-ordinator, a support to parents and teachers, a friend, a guidance counselor and a Bible teacher are all part of Tim Lees' role as the new youth pastor at Calvary Baptist Church.

Lees joined Drayton Valley's Baptist church on Oct. 18. His main responsibility is working with youth aged 12 to 17 years.

"It's just been a time of trying to get to know some of the young people. I'm here hopefully to provide leadership but, I can't just jump into that role. First I have to get to know people," said Lees.

Lees grew up in the central part of northern Saskatchewan where his father is also a pastor. He graduated from Saskatchewan's Bricecrest Bible College in the spring of '83 and later spent 14 months working in Winnipeg with Youth for Christ. Co-ordinating youth activities is a major part of the new pastor's job.

Friday is junior high activities night and Thursday is senior high night. These meetings are held in Lees' home beside the church.

Some of the events Lees has already organized include a halloween party, a turkey night and song circles. Gym, rollerskating, winter camping and hay rides are among his plans for future events.

"I want to provide a time for young people to get together and have a good time," said Lees. "I also want to be a support to parents, teachers and principals by backing up the values they're trying to teach," he added.

The work and teachings of Jesus Christ is also an important aspect of Lees' work with youth. "I believe the teachings of Jesus Christ should be followed — not just believed but practiced. If more people did this, I think we'd have a lot less problems in the world," he explained. "This is one of the things I want to encourage both young people and adults to do," he added.

Pastor Lees also holds a young adults Bible study on Wednesday nights.

The church isn't totally a social club. It is a place where people's needs can be met," said Lees. Lees said he is enjoying Drayton Valley because it's the type of community lifestyle he grew up in.

In case you were wondering, it was Old Man Wister who brought a halt to the County of Parkland's paving project on the Poplar Ridge Road. Work is scheduled to commence in the spring on the $600,000 job from Mobil west past Amoco's front door, along with a second layer on the entire road starting from Dome's corner.

Ayette said the bazaar has always been very successful in past years.

"Every year it gets bigger and bigger because of the supportive attitude of the community. We hold the bazaar in the lodge to create public awareness of what the seniors are capable of doing," she added.

Approximately 33 seniors are involved in the bazaar and have been preparing since September. Proceeds from the Christmas bazaar go directly toward supporting activities planned by the Shangri-La Social Club.

Town gets tough

The town is getting tough with the owners of untidy lots.

Council decided last week to clean up three lots and add the costs on to the owners' tax roll.

Two of the lots are located on 85th Avenue, across from the Elks Hall while the third is located in the old Mobil trailer court, north of St. Anthony's school.

Here it is in the West side. Black as white — My diamond ring has been turned straight. We never wanted it and any for this of them happy with. Made the old hand glad! And one thing that cannot be denied is the happiness of Council.

Use of Life Support rises

Drayton Valley's Life Support Society has 11 of their 15 lifeline systems in use by clients and is expecting two more to be operational soon.

At the society's meeting last week volunteer members approved establishing a maintenance contract to ensure safety of the lifeline systems. According to president Linda Thompson, the society is also planning to purchase a phone displaying names of Lethbridge donors. The plaque is to be placed in the Drayton Valley General Hospital.

The Lifeline System, introduced in Drayton Valley about eight months ago, serves the frail elderly, handicapped and others living alone who are unable to help themselves. People using the system are able to contact help through a response centre at the hospital. A communicator is placed in the home and in case of an emergency the user presses a personal help button worn on a chain or a strap and the communicator automatically dials the hospital.

The Life Support Society's next meeting will be held in January.

"All new members are welcome," said Thompson.

Road upgrading

A 10-year, $2 billion secondary road upgrading program proposed by Transportation Minister Marvin Moore will affect two projects in the area.

MLA Shirley Cripps says Highway 616 will be completed from Drexin to Highway 22 near Buck Creek and another section of road around St. Francis will be part of Moore's package. Moore estimates the cost of his project would be about $200 million a year, which would represent an increase of about $30 million a year in road improvement capital funding. The minister has refused to speculate on when the new program might begin but said he'd like to see it start in 1990.

Home-made instruments combined to make music

By Debbie Johnson

An unusual, but harmonized combination of musical instruments make up the unique sound of the Shangri-La Lodge Kitchen Band.

The band goes on every Tuesday night as about 20 residents of the Shangri-La Lodge with an average age of 80, dance, sing, whistle and keep in tune on a variety of home made instruments.

Pill bottle maracas, bleach bottle funnel kazoo, an embroidery hoop tambourine, a mouse horn jingle clog, a washboard and a cardboard can tainer drum with wooden spoons and dish rag drumsticks are some of the instruments decoratively crated and employed by members of the kitchen band.

The band also has about five solo or duet vocalists, including band conductor Lil Ross on guitar.

Ross, a Grade 1 and 2 music teacher at Eldorado School, helped members form the band about a year ago.

"The band is doing so well. When they started they hardly had the courage to sing in public and now they're in harmony," said Ross.

Side by Side, Five Four Two, Spring Time in the Rockies, Let Me Call You Sweetheart and I Love Mountain Music are some of the tunes the Kitchen Band performs.

Ross said she is looking for someone to help conduct the band and a spare piano player.

The band recently performed for an audience visiting from a Redwater lodge.

Administrator of Redwater's Diamond Spring Lodge Paul Neville said he was very impressed with the Shangri-La Lodge and its Kitchen Band.

"The activities taking place here are very important," he said. "People come here to live, not to die. Too many people feel it's the other way around. It's so important for a lodge to create the happy home environment that Shangri-La does," added Neville.

Farmers Market booked for next year

The local Farmer's Market is fully booked to the end of its season on Dec. 18.

Farm Market manager Lynn Merschel said all tables at the market are booked until next March when its new season begins.

"We have approximately 24 regular stall holders," she added.

Record crowd at tends Christmas fair

A record crowd of almost 900 people attended this year's Christmas fair sponsored by the Drayton Valley branch of the Alberta Women's Institute (AWI).

The fair was held at the Rec Plex last Saturday.

AWI member Winsie Hammarlin said the organization was very pleased with the attendance.

"I think most of the tables were happy with the proceeds," she added.

More than 500 people attended last year's fair.

The Farmers' Market is held at the Elks Hall every Wednesday from noon to 5 p.m.

"We usually try to accommodate people from the Drayton Valley area but we do bring in people from other towns. This makes for a bigger variety of merchandise. This year we had a fantastic group," added Merschel.

Flowers and bedding plants, baking and fresh

All 60 available tables and other Alberta products for this year's Christmas fair were booked by early September.

The AWI proceeds from the fair are donated to the handicapped, Santa's Anonymous, battered women's programs, school awards fruits and vegetables are some of the items Merschel cited as being very popular at the market.

"Fresh fruit and vegetables draw a big crowd in the summer," she said.

Merschel encourages people to come in and enter the market's Christmas hamper draw. Mer chandise for hampers is donated by table holders.

Merschel said she will start accepting bookings for the 1986 season toward the end of February.

"If you make it, bake it, grow it or produce it, you can sell it," she added.

Student exchange

Holly Dabb of Breton High School and Quebec visitor Julie Monette are participants in a student exchange program. Monette is attending Breton high school until Dec. 4 and Dabb will attend St. Eustache High School in Quebec from February to May of next year. The exchange for the two Grade 11 students is the first such program involving Breton High School.

Some major changes in farm programs are announced

On Nov. 21 the government announced some major changes to both the Alberta Livestock Drought Assistance Program and the Feed Freight Assistance Program.

One major change is the fact the Feed Freight Assistance Program no longer exists. The program has been cancelled in light of the changes to the Drought Assistance Program.

Before the changes, the Drought Assistance Program paid $45 per head of bred female livestock (80 per head for sheep and goats) in two payments, to those producers in Zone B. That includes all producers in, or south of, Township 50 in the Drayton Valley district. Producers in Zone C were not eligible.

The new changes to this program do not affect the program boundaries. Payments for all animals will now be $15 per head $15 per head for sheep and goats. People who have already applied in Zone B will receive the aid automatically.

People in Zone C, if they have applied and appealed the boundaries by way of a letter will receive a letter inviting them to re-apply for the assistance in mid-

December when the new forms are printed.

All farmers in Zone C will have to apply in December on the new forms. Farmers in Zone B should still apply as soon as possible. All producers must still meet the deadline for Zone B is

Mail volumes are up as the Christmas rush approaches

By Lorne Christensen

Canada Post needs your help. With Christmas just around the corner the volume of mail is increasing. People are beginning to send out their cards and parcels as the festive season approaches.

But there are a few things that people can do to make the mailman's job easier.

"The main thing is to make sure all the mail is completely and correctly addressed," according to LeRoy Robinson, Drayton Valley's postmaster.

This includes the vital information of box number or complete street address and of course the postal code. Other specifications include having the address in the proper place.

Along with having the complete address Robinson says the address should be written legibly.

For parcels, the proper place for addresses is in the bottom right section. Parcels should also be Postmaster LeRoy Robinson with some of the many letters he receives each year addressed to Santa Claus, wrapped well and be fairly strong. As Robinson points out, a lot of the mail is handled by machines.

An added bonus this year is special Christmas card rates of 32 cents. The two-cent saving on every Christmas card could mean even more mail passing through the postal system this year.

More mail is handled during the Christmas season anyway, according to Robinson. He points out they handle about 30 to 40 per cent more mail during this season. That's up from the 12,000 to 15,000 pieces of mail that pass through their hands in an average day.

Robinson says the local post office, which has a staff of nine people, doesn't have the big backlog that often affects the city mailing centres. But the backlog at the larger centres causes the mail to clog in Drayton Valley in "apartments," Robinson explains that when the city is backed up they will hire extra staff in a large volume of mail is distributed at once, causing some problems in the smaller offices.

To ensure your mail will make it on time, Robinson says letters going to other centres in Canada should be mailed by Dec. 11 and parcels by Dec. 6.

A post office employee sorts the mail.

Letters mailed to other addresses in town can be sent right up until Christmas and still make it, according to Robinson.

In town there are about 3,000 boxes in the post office with another 700 boxes located in suburban areas.

He added there are 150 people on a waiting list for boxes.

"We have a few boxes that have come up people on the waiting list can check with us," Robinson said.

But in addition to the shortage of boxes the Drayton Valley post office has another unique problem. With the amount of people moving in and out of town the post office has a big headache keeping track of everyone.

"Some of the boxes will be rented three or four times a year," Robinson explained.

But besides running out the everyday problems of the post office, Robinson has another big assignment when Christmas rolls around.

He becomes Santa Claus. Robinson explained the post office has a nationwide policy where they intercept Santa Claus letters and answer them.

"It's a nice thing for Christmas with the kids," he explains, adding he answers about 450 each year.

So from answering Santa Claus letters to finding boxes for residents, the job at the post office isn't easy.

"We get all the mail in and out as quick as we can," he adds.

Chaplin

More than 200 at Breton anniversary

By Shell Carson

More than 200 people gathered at the Breton Community Centre recently to celebrate the silver anniversary of Ted and Doreen Chaplin.

Guests were entertained during the social hour by Scottish piper Malcolm McCrimmon of Edmonton.

"Amazing Grace" was played by several violinists and the piper. Ken Sylvester of Sherwood Park sang.

Candles were lit on all the tables and a supper was served, followed by a toast from Mitch Anthony, master of ceremonies for the evening.

Jim Lang opened the evening program with a toast of the couple. A brief film of the original 1980 shower and wedding was shown along with a ladder depicting the couple's 25 years together.

Diane and Ruth Anthony offered an organ and instrumental. Millie Hygen of Canmore and Betty Chaplin sang and played mouth organs.

Marilyn Topilko of Slave Lake read a poem.

Breton News

Debbie Murray of Alaska read a poem entitled "What a Difference You Make."

Lloyd Ellis, Al Alain of Warburg, George Foutaine of Burk Lake, Will Hatherley of Mirror, Martin Hoffman of Warburg and Wayne Chaplin of Breton played violin solos during the evening.

Betty Chaplin of Edmonton read a poem. Peter and Joel Kachel of Millet and Diane Granda of Manville sang. Granda's selection was "You're My Best Friend."

Lefond and Michael Poholka played accordion solos and Shannon Bredin of Drayton Valley performed four highland dances for the program.

The head table was decorated in pink foil and silver garland with arrangements of fresh pink and white flowers and pink candles on each side of a two-tier cake, decorated with clusters of pink flowers, silver leaves and bells. The cake was made by Louise Kleipals of Alaska.

In attendance from the original wedding group were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lang of Rutland, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Huk of Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Kachel of Millet.

Breda Bogart of Breton was in charge of the guest book and wishing well.

For the occasion Doreen chose a silver striped dress, silver and pink corsage.

Farmers concerned about prices

With most of their equity tied up in land and the threat of a fall in their revenue to grain prices, farmers are concerned about the impact of lower grain prices on future land values.

Prairie land values could drop by 32 per cent if wheat prices average $4 a bushel between now and 1989, predicts a University of Saskatchewan study commissioned by United Grain Growers.

Economists W.D. Wesenael and Richard Schoony report $4 wheat prices over a five-year period would drop cash flows from land as much as land prices would be sharply reduced.

The economists stated, "Land values are expected to decline by 16 and 32 per cent if wheat prices fall."

Thunder Bay are at $4.75 and $4 a bushel, respectively, to 1989.

That means typical land in Saskatchewan would trade for $468 by 1989.

Top grades of wheat currently sell for about

$5.50 a bushel, but Thunder Bay, however, there is concern prices will weaken due to world surpluses.

In their study, "How Much Will Land be Worth in 1989?" Wesenael and Schoony looked at the impact of three wheat prices on farmers with various levels of debt. They held production costs steady, then set the price of wheat at $5.50, $4.75 and $4 a bushel.

All Saints Anglican Church

Celebrating 50 years in town

Were you living in Drayton Valley 50 years ago?

All Saints Anglican Church Women held their November meeting. High on the agenda was the celebration of 50 years of the church in Drayton Valley 1936-1986. We hope to have a full-minute by then.

Marion Palmer, with help from members of the congregation, has been conducting morning services on Sunday with a minister from Edmonton coming on the second and fourth Sunday of the month. These services are followed by a potluck lunch.

Palmer reported on the Bishops conference on evangelism recently held in Edmonton. Bishop William C. Fry of the Colorado diocese, U.S.A., conducted the sessions. In his early life, Bishop Fry has been an Episcopal minister in Costa Rica and Guatemala.

Meriam Roberts reported the Mothers Union group had got off to a good start, the meetings being held in the morning with special programs of interest to young women.

A letter from our prayer partners, the Duns, was read. They are now reading in Copper mine, N.W.T. and serve the people of St. Andrews Anglican Church there.

A large box of used eyeglasses was collected for Christian Blind International.

The 1986 church calendars are now available. The church organ has been sent into Edmonton to be tuned. Thanks to Ethel Betton who made a new organ cover.

Thanks to all who attended and helped to make the church turkey supper and bazaar a great success. It was voted to put 75 per cent of the proceeds toward church improvements.

Extra bazaar items will be sold at the Christmas Fair.

Big hill

It's a long way down the toboggan hill just out side of town towards the North Saskatchewan River. New Western Review reporter Ray Lainebury looks down the long hill before making his "hankie plunge". Lainebury almost made it half-way before slipping out.

By Lois Peterson, Librarian
November is Children's Book Festival time!
Continuing throughout November, your library is celebrating Children's Book Festival Month. The 1985 festival theme is "The Art of the Illustrator".

Watch for recommended books by Canadian authors and illustrators. Your library has special book marks and activity sheets for hours of fun. Check the "Book Up Your Year" poster for good books your library has waiting just for your boys and girls, remember to look for the Canadian flag sticker on the spine of a book. This tells you the book is indeed a Canadian book - written and/or illustrated by a Canadian about Canada for Canadian.

Let's all get involved in reading Canadian during November! Watch for those Canadian flag stickers throughout your library.

CANADIAN ENCYCLOPEDIA has arrived!
Your library now has the Canadian Encyclopedia - a three volume set on the shelf and ready for use. We have waited for many years for an encyclopedia of Canadian content after the demise of the Encyclopedia Americana in the early '70s. Now it is a reality - receiving much praise from educators, librarians and the public. If you haven't had an opportunity to look through the Canadian Encyclopedia, drop by the library and spend some time getting to know more about Canada! The reference section set is courtesy the government of Alberta.

Preschool story hour has room for more

Preschool story hour for children ages three to five years is held every second Saturday morning from 11:15 a.m. at the library. At the time of writing, there are still a few openings, but don't delay. If your child would like to participate in this free program of stories, songs, crafts and other fun, enroll him/her right now by dropping into the library during regular open hours and simply filling out a registration form. Telephone registrations are not accepted. Next story hours in Session 1 are Nov. 23, Dec. 7 and 21.

Session 11 registrations will begin in December for Jan. 11 and 25, Feb. 1 and 15. Session 111 will begin registering in February for March 1 and 15, April 5 and 28. New registrants will be given priority for each session which consists of four story hours on alternate Saturday mornings. Because space is limited, we want to give as many children a possible the opportunity of attending and becoming involved in this wonderful world of books!

"Discover Your Library" continues
Each new library member registering from now until Dec. 31 is eligible to enter a draw for a personal stereo cassette player. Encourage your friends to become a library patron and get in on this draw.

Babysitters graduate from course

More than 20 local girls recently graduated from a six-week babysitting course sponsored by the Drayton Valley Kinettes.

Co-ordinator of the babysitters course Susan Lee said 23 of the 29 students enrolled in the program passed the final exam which required a minimum of 70 per cent.

"I feel the kids that took the course are far better off whether they passed or not," said Lee.

The babysitters' course curriculum is established by the Alberta Safety Council.

During the six weeks the fire chief returned on fire safety, a St. John Ambulance official spoke on first aid and a registered nurse taught child care.

Also classes on ethics of babysitting and safety advice to visitors were taught by the Kinettes.

Another babysitters course will be offered in April of next year. Classes are held at St.

Anthony's school on Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. Lee said there has been a big demand for the course.

"We had only planned on doing one course a year but, because of the demand we're holding an additional one," she added.

To enroll in the course students must be 12 years of age or older.

Lee said the Kinettes encourage students to advertise their services on the town office bulletin board but very few do.

"Finding a babysitter in Drayton Valley can be a problem, especially for newcomers," she said.

Lee felt one of the reasons graduates neglect leaving their names at the town office may be because their parents don't want them babysitting in stranger's homes.

Draw for lots

The town plans to use a draw system to sell off lots in Northview.

People interested in any of the 65 lots will see their name go into a draw barrel. The first name selected on a specific draw date, will have their choice of a lot. And, each additional name drawn will get their choice of a lot.

This practice is used in many municipalities.

Lot prices range from $19,500 to $20,500.

They'll Do It Everytime

By Lizelle-Rill

Since we sold our large home in the city, my husband has been trying desperately to become a farmer, and me a farmer's wife.

Being raised in a concrete jungle, the closest farm I was ever at was Old MacDonald's Farm at the city zoo.

We left the city with our family dependants completed — children and one dog. Little did I know my husband had other intentions!

One Sunday my husband and children went off to visit a neighboring farmer. They seemed to be gone a long time. I was watching out the kitchen window when I saw the lights coming up the driveway. Inside the cab of the truck, it looked like a chicken and rooster driving.

The children jumped out of the truck and yell ed out, "We got them for free!"

Free, my —!!!
These lovely feathered friends had to be housed somewhere for the night. Of course, we had no coop for them (talk about putting the cart before the horse). They spent the first night in a box in the basement.

That was as far as my hospitality would go. The next day was spent literally building a house, fencing and, of course, special feed. Little did I know that chickens do not live by bread alone.

We purchased four large bags of special chicken feed guaranteed to produce eggs. Well, after two months of free room and board these feathered friends finally started to produce.

Our first REAL product from our farm — two eggs. After I added the cost of housing, food and a modest profit margin, I figure each egg was worth $1.50.

SELL, heaven forbid you don't sell Miss Red's eggs!

Powerhouse courses

Social dance was popular

The fall session for most of the Drayton Valley Powerhouse Further Education courses are now completed or near completion.

Powerhouse coordinator Val Tucker said the majority of courses offered were successful.

Powerhouse offers courses from arts and crafts to social saucers, she added.
According to Tucker the St. John Ambulance and social dance were among the more popular courses taught during the session.

Wardrobe planning was an excellent course. Students learned how to put their best foot forward," stated Tucker.

Photography, computer and word processing were some of the other courses offered.

Advanced registration for the next series of courses starts in January with instruction getting underway the first week of February.

Courses run anywhere from one night to 10 weeks.

Tucker said the Powerhouse is looking for instructors.
"Yoga, chinese cooking, self defense...we're looking for instructors for just about anything. If people have a skill we'll try to set up a course around it," she explained.

The Powerhouse program is a result of a further education council made up of various groups in the community interested in further education.

The program is funded by the Department of Advanced Education.

All Powerhouse courses are non-credit.

Drayton Valley Home Hardware Joins the Computer Age

If you've been shopping at the Drayton Valley Home Hardware store this winter, you may have noticed that computerized terminals have replaced the more conventional cash registers at the check out area where you pay for your purchases.

By making this change, Drayton Valley Home Hardware joins 30 other large Home Hardware dealers that have converted their stores to the system, with excellent results, over the past two years.

With all of these exciting changes happening at Home Hardware in Drayton Valley, be sure to drop in and have a look around. They'll be happy to assist you with the selection of the hardware, electrical, plumbing or home decorating product that's just right for what you need to do around the house.

They also carry a complete line of houseware and gift items so you can stroke some of those hard to find items off your Christmas list before the big day gets any closer. To finish off your Christmas purchases, why not also pick up some ornaments, cards or wrapping paper.

Chamber wants broader membership

Broadening their membership base is a major priority with the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking at last Wednesday's general meeting, newly elected president Rusty Penrice indicated that membership was something the group was going to keep on.

The meeting heard that the chamber membership stood at 180 paid up members, down from last June's 122 members.

Several new directors are currently sitting on the membership committee, looking at ways to increase their numbers.

Last week's chamber meeting included reports on their winter carnival, first annual Christmas light up contest, membership, economic development, tourism, the financial report, Trade Fair and a move to new quarters.

Director Joe MacLellan told the crowd that the economic development committee was busy charting their course. "These are exciting times in Drayton Valley. We're looking for good things to happen," MacLellan stated.

Clarence Tsai, co-chairman of the chamber's tourist committee outlined some projects of the past summer, including Drayton Valley's first place win at working on some unique promotional schemes for Highway 22 next summer.

Judy Forest asked for donations of used office equipment for the chamber when they relocate in to the old RCMP building Dec. 1st. The member ship was also told that Chris Stanek was the new secretary and office hours would be 1 to 5 p.m. on Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Fridays.

Nerv Anderson reported that the chamber's recent Trade Fair had netted a profit of $13,000. He added that the chamber was in relatively good shape.

Plaques to the Trade Fair booth winners were also presented. The combined effort of Valley Gilt and Stationary and Writab Construction took first place followed by Valley Kitchens and D.V. Meter

The Tomahawk multi purpose facility is behind schedule but should be ready for use by Christmas.

The $220,000 facility is about six weeks behind schedule according to Dorothy Donke, secretary for the Tomahawk and District Sports & Agri Association.

Donke said the rain we had earlier in the year is the main reason the complex is behind.

The multi-use facility will have two curling sheets of ice along with space for meetings.

Donke added they hope to hold everything from 4 H sales to community events to curling bonanzas in the facility.

They are also looking for volunteers or financial help to assist with

Handibus is not available

Town council was told last week that the new handibus is not available.

Councillor Howard Olsen, who also sits on the hospital board, told council that the new bus cannot be used on a regular basis by people outside the hospital. He added that it was a rule of the hospital auxiliary, who purchased the handibus that they can't contribute money or services to something outside the hospital.

Olsen suggested some alternatives be looked at for seniors at the Changin' Le Lodge who has originally indicated an interest in utilizing the bus. One alternative includes talking to the
